The complaint is often made that there are too many drives for funds. It is true that these special campaigns do seem to follow one another pretty closely.
Nevertheless, the causes are worthy and the funds must be secured if good work is to continue. This applies to the Salvation Army which is soon to put on a campaign to secure money for the local work of the Army during the coming year.

The recent heavy rains have increased the supply of water in Mauvalsterre lake to such an extent that for the first time in more than a year water is running over the spillway. It is a fact not generally known that the city water committee of which Alderman Chapin is chairman during recent weeks raised the flashboard at the spillway a few inches. However, this is sufficient to increase the storage capacity of the lake by 200,000,000 gallons. Today Jacksonville has a greater supply of water than ever before. All that remains is to somewhat improve the power

PROOF DEMANDED
The newly elected resident commissioner from the Philippines says that his purpose is to "secure from Congress a final solution of the Philippine problem."
He declares that pleasant relations between the United States and the islands require a more definite understanding as to their future political status. In all probability the Philippines will be granted their independence when they have proved their capacity for self-government. Previous to the Wilson regime they were making rapid strides in that direction but the wholly incompetent administration of the Philippines which President Wilson permitted offset much of the progress that had been made.

Governor General Wood is trying to regain the ground lost during eight years but is working against heavy odds in the persons of self-seeking Filipino leaders, who want to exploit the islands for their own selfish interests. If Republican administration of the islands is not interrupted, and Gen. Wood's policies are permitted to develop, the Filipinos may expect their independence within a reasonable time.

FREEING NEW JERSEY CHILDREN
During the last few months the New Jersey Departments of Health and Labor have been carrying on an aggressive campaign against the system of home sweatshop child labor which has existed for some time. The campaign has been notably successful, although its definite results have not been fully summed up.

The Newark News makes this timely comment on the situation:
"One thing, however, must not be lost sight of. The evil that is in process of being blotted out has existed by virtue of an economic pressure which, this campaign has, at best, only arrested.
This pressure is a constant one,
always ready to overleap or break thru lines of resistance which the law and its agencies set up.
Eternal vigilance is the price of safety in this respect as in others, whose inspections are going to be continuous."

Too often a community, aroused by an emergency, will unite to get a regulating law passed or to blot out the evil, and then will proceed to go its old, indifferent careless way, serenely believing that all is well. Through houses cleaning once a year doesn't eliminate the need of vacuum cleaners and oil moons and good soap and water all the other 11 months.

ACCUMULATING ACCIDENTS
That human beings learn by experience apparently does not apply to those who have accidents.
A German savant has been compiling statistics showing that persons who have one or two accidents during a given period of time will continue to have such misadventures at an increasing rate, while those who have never had an accident up to a certain time are extremely unlikely to have any in the future.

This applies to accidents causing by personal carelessness. Accidents attributable to mere chance, such as falling brick from a chimney, do not have any significance in connection with these statistics.

After it has been proved or admitted that "those unlucky persons who have frequently had accidents will not, in the future, be spared such experience, but will continue to suffer more accidents than those who hitherto have seldom had an accident"—
what then?

The man of learning believes that the carelessness involved in most accidents is inherent in the persons addicted to them. Therefore an accident insurance company ought to investigate carefully an applicant's previous record and charge a higher or lower premium to the frequency or lack of accidents.

For the benefit of the unlucky
wight who is always getting himself into accidents of one sort or another, the professor suggests that excess in case of mentally deficient or psychopathic persons this carelessness can be overcome. In other words, self-training, cultivated poise and constant vigilance may eventually reverse
the present statistics on the subject.

CITY STARTS SUITS TO RECOVER TAXES

Seeks to Bring About Payments of Special Assessments on Sale of Properties.

A suit was filed by City Attorney Walter Bellatti yesterday whereby the city seeks to acquire title of certain property. It is set forth that John Frank was at one time the owner of two tracts adjacent to Prairie and West Lafayette avenue and that when a pavement was laid on West Lafayette avenue that the assessments levied for the improvement were not paid by Mr. Frank and that the city obtained judgement against the property to cover the amount of the assessments.

It is set forth that the property was later transferred by John Frank to Jane Frank and later to John C. Fernandes, and that thereafter in October 1921, the property was transferred to Paul J. Frank.

It is mentioned also that A. A. Curry claims to have a certain interest in the tract. The bill filed by the city attorney also refers to lot 168 Mound Side addition, which was held in the name of G. A. Haire, the city having taken judgement against the property because of unpaid assessments for the Mound avenue pavement. Title to this property is still in the name of G. A. Haire.

The city asks that the defendants mentioned be required to pay the taxes and assessments unpaid and that in default of such payment that a court order be issued providing for the sale of the properties.

RUSSIAN TREASURES SOLD
London. (AP)—The vast collections of jewels and art treasures of the Romanoff family gradually are finding their way to the many auction rooms of London and Paris. They have come in such abundance during the last two years that they cease to incite curiosity or to bring more than the normal price for such articles.

Recently the most remarkable collection of 42 old French snuff boxes in existence, once the property of the Romanoff family, was sold in London for about $50,000, considered a low price.

One of the specimens, a gold oval Louis XV box, beautifully chased, with a miniature of Frederick II in the lid and a small watch in the bottom, said to have been presented to Voltaire by Frederick II, brought $5,000.

George Oxley was a business caller in the city Friday from the Durbin neighborhood.

When Trees Really Bud
Specialist on Subject Says Most People Are Mistaken About the Time.

So few of us notice trees carefully that in early spring when the buds are swelling we say "The buds are coming on the trees," whereas, if our eyes had been opened to nature's wonders, we would have known that they had been patiently "budding" the summer before.

As the buds begin to swell the outside coverings or scales grow larger, separate and fall, writes Susan S. Alburtil in Nature Magazine of Washington. They leave their scars behind them as a group of very close rings. Wherever these are, there a terminal bud has been.

Not necessarily does the distance between ring groups mean a year's growth. Sometimes, according to the season, a tree will make a second growth, then it has made two terminal buds in a growing season. The horse chestnut frequently does this, because of a disease that attacks it in early July. In such cases two groups of rings would be made in one year.

Not all the side buds on a twig will open. They are the reserve army waiting to come into action if the main buds are injured. After a few years of waiting, if they have not been brought into service, they will be covered by the growing wood, but have "served by waiting."

Not much variation occurs in the shape of the bud bundles in the same species, so probably the safest way to know trees is by their buds. Then, too, if we remember that they are on the trees all the year round except for a very short time immediately after the old buds have opened and the new leaves are getting strong enough to work, we can identify trees when all the leaves are gone if we know the bud bundles.

SELL FURS TO ESKIMOS
Sounds Like Paradox, but Wolverine Head Dress Is Popular With People of the North.

Selling furs for consignment to the Eskimos sounds like a paradox, but that is exactly what took place at the opening day of one week's sale of the Canadian Fur Auction Sales, Limited, at the Mount Royal hotel, according to the Montreal correspondent of the Boston Transcript. The explanation was more simple than it looked. F. H. Pinger, general manager and also auctioneer for the sale, said that the Eskimos of Alaska have plenty of beautiful seal, fox and similar furs, but each Eskimo with a personal use as a head dress above all things to the Montreal buyers, where they barter them for wolverine skins, which they take back to Alaska for the adornment of the Eskimo beaver and beaver. The Eskimos are satisfied and the various bartering processes are not done without profit.

Specialist on Subject Says Most People Are Mistaken About the Time.

So few of us notice trees carefully that in early spring when the buds are swelling we say "The buds are coming on the trees," whereas, if our eyes had been opened to nature's wonders, we would have known that they had been patiently "budding" the summer before.

As the buds begin to swell the outside coverings or scales grow larger, separate and fall, writes Susan S. Alburtil in Nature Magazine of Washington. They leave their scars behind them as a group of very close rings. Wherever these are, there a terminal bud has been.

Not necessarily does the distance between ring groups mean a year's growth. Sometimes, according to the season, a tree will make a second growth, then it has made two terminal buds in a growing season. The horse chestnut frequently does this, because of a disease that attacks it in early July. In such cases two groups of rings would be made in one year.

Not all the side buds on a twig will open. They are the reserve army waiting to come into action if the main buds are injured. After a few years of waiting, if they have not been brought into service, they will be covered by the growing wood, but have "served by waiting."

Not much variation occurs in the shape of the bud bundles in the same species, so probably the safest way to know trees is by their buds. Then, too, if we remember that they are on the trees all the year round except for a very short time immediately after the old buds have opened and the new leaves are getting strong enough to work, we can identify trees when all the leaves are gone if we know the bud bundles.

SELL FURS TO ESKIMOS
Sounds Like Paradox, but Wolverine Head Dress Is Popular With People of the North.

Selling furs for consignment to the Eskimos sounds like a paradox, but that is exactly what took place at the opening day of one week's sale of the Canadian Fur Auction Sales, Limited, at the Mount Royal hotel, according to the Montreal correspondent of the Boston Transcript. The explanation was more simple than it looked. F. H. Pinger, general manager and also auctioneer for the sale, said that the Eskimos of Alaska have plenty of beautiful seal, fox and similar furs, but each Eskimo with a personal use as a head dress above all things to the Montreal buyers, where they barter them for wolverine skins, which they take back to Alaska for the adornment of the Eskimo beaver and beaver. The Eskimos are satisfied and the various bartering processes are not done without profit.

RUSSIAN TREASURES SOLD
London. (AP)—The vast collections of jewels and art treasures of the Romanoff family gradually are finding their way to the many auction rooms of London and Paris. They have come in such abundance during the last two years that they cease to incite curiosity or to bring more than the normal price for such articles.

Recently the most remarkable collection of 42 old French snuff boxes in existence, once the property of the Romanoff family, was sold in London for about $50,000, considered a low price.

One of the specimens, a gold oval Louis XV box, beautifully chased, with a miniature of Frederick II in the lid and a small watch in the bottom, said to have been presented to Voltaire by Frederick II, brought $5,000.

FOOT BALL SEASON NOW IN FULL SWING

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Football will take its place in the sporting limelight tomorrow when many leading elevens in the east as well as thruout the country will swing into action for the first time.

Of the most part major teams will test their 1923 model machines against lesser known opponents. Specially interesting in the east will be the intersectional battle at West Point between the army and University of Tennessee, the first of five intersectional contests on the cadet schedule. The other branch of the service, navy, will oppose William and Mary college at Annapolis.

The big three—Princeton, Yale and Harvard—will not undergo their initial tests for another week, but other leading eastern outfits, including Cornell, Dartmouth, Penn State, Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh and Syracuse, will take the gridiron for the first time.

EDDIE COLLINS IS GAME'S BEST SECOND-SACKER

Gleason and Huggins, Stars in Their Day, Agree They Have Never Seen One Better.

EDDIE COLLINS

By BILLY EVANS
CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—"In the 40 years that I have been connected with baseball, I have never seen a more valuable second baseman than Eddie Collins."

Such was the compliment paid Eddie Collins during a recent fanning bee by "Kid" Gleason, manager of the Chicago White Sox.

In his day Gleason was one of the craftiest second sackers in the big show. Naturally the "Kid" is in a position to speak with authority when second baseman is the topic of conversation.

"When I say that Collins is the greatest second baseman of all time, I am not unkind of many other great players who have filled that position," continued Gleason.

"There was Larry Lajoie for instance. What a wonder the big Frenchman was! How he could hit them. Larry slammed the ball harder than Eddie, but no more consistently. In fielding there was little to choose between them. After that, the edge is with Collins."

Rates Collins Best
"No one but the manager of a club on which Collins plays second base can really appreciate his worth. But Collins doesn't merely play second base. He plays the ball game."

"To the pitcher he is offering advice as to how to work on the batter. To the infielder he is offering suggestions as to the possibilities on the next play. Prior to each pitch he looks over his outfield and often shifts it in order to meet the style of the batsman and the type ball that is to be pitched."

"At the plate Collins is a wonder. He has a remarkable eye. Collins makes more base hits than any other player in the game with the count three balls and two strikes. That is because he is always waiting his pitcher out, unless perchance he picks on the cripple."

"Best of all he has the winning disposition. It is impossible to

Views of Huggins
A few days later I put the question of second baseman to Miller Huggins, manager of the New York Yankees. In his day there were few better second basemen than Huggins. Certainly there were none brainer.

"Collins is the most valuable second baseman I have ever seen in action," said Huggins. "He does everything well and makes no fuss about it."

"Frankie Frisch of the Giants is also a wonder, but is inclined to be more erratic than Collins. Frisch knocks down and makes sensational plays on many balls because of his great speed, while Collins invariably handles a ball cleanly. He has the uncanny knack of getting in front of the ball no matter how hard it may be hit."

Players of the Collins type are about one in ten thousand. Tough odds.

ALDRIDGE-COOPER IN PITCHING DUEL

Cubs Take Game from Pirates 2 to 1—Grimes Drives Ball into Bleachers for Homer

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Grimes' batting enabled Chicago to make it two straight from Pittsburgh today by winning 2 to 1. Grimes' triple following Miller's double tied the score after the visitors had registered a run on Barnhart's walk. Cuyler's single and an error by Miller. Grimes broke the tie and gave the locals the game by driving the ball into the bleachers for a homer. The game was a pitching duel between Aldridge and Cooper. The fielding of Grantham and Stutz featured.

LEADERSHIP HELD ABOUT ONE HOUR

New York, Sept. 28.—"Cy" Williams of the Philadelphia Nationals held the season home run leadership for about one hour today when he poked his 38th round trip, with none on off Marquard in the first inning with Boston at Philadelphia. Babe Ruth of the New York Yankees, however, laced out his 38th in sixth inning off Ehmske of the Red Sox at Boston again tying the home run score.

FRIDAY GOLF MARKED BY EASY VICTORIES

Sarazen and Hagen Win in Semi-Final Round and Meet Saturday for Titles Both Have Held.

PELHAM MANOR, N. Y., Sept. 28.—(By The Associated Press)—Rather easy and colorless victories came today to Gene Sarazen and Walter Hagen in the semi-final round of the professional golfers' association tournament and they will meet tomorrow for the title that both have won in other years.

Sarazen, winner of the championship last year, disposed of Robert Cruikshank, Westfield, N. J., at the 31st hole of their match, 7 up and 5 to play. Hagen, champion of the professionals in 1921, eliminated "Dapper" George McLean of Bronxville, N. Y., 12 and 11.

Cruikshank appeared the same "Wee Bobbie" who set the galleries athrill during the open champion at Inwood last July while playing the first nine and was as cocky and confident as ever when they strode to the tenth, all even.

But the four birdies in a row that flew off Sarazen's clubs on the next four were a bit too much.

Amazing Shots
One of his most amazing shots was made on the 15th hole in the morning round. His tee shot here well in the woods left of the fairway and he had a bad lie in the tall grass.

His second carried over the trees and flew to a rocky shelf, fifty feet above and to the right of the green. Sarazen then pitched to within twenty feet of the pin and was down in two putts to win. Sarazen went to lunch four up on Cruikshank.

The first three holes of the afternoon round were halved but Cruikshank reduced Sarazen's lead to three up at the twenty second hole, when Gene's tee shot landed in the green. Sarazen came back and won the twenty third when Cruikshank took three putts.

Cruikshank pulled into the woods at the twenty sixth and Sarazen became six up. Sarazen added another hole to his lead when he scored a birdie three at the twenty seventh.

Goes Into Pond
On the twenty eighth Cruikshank hit his tee shot into the duck pond and was eight down to Sarazen. The twenty ninth and thirtieth holes were won by Cruikshank. The end came on the thirty first hole when Sarazen laid his brassie scarcely 20 feet from the pin while Cruikshank was short on his second.

Hagen in the other match always was far ahead of McLean. Hagen was 3 up at the end of the 15th. On the first hole in the afternoon he was within 15 feet of the pin on his second shot and holed out for an eagle three.

Hagen became dormie thirteen when McLean took a five on the par fifth hole but Hagen conceded the next after a second shot into a mud hole. The match ended at the seventh which was halved.

Hagen and Sarazen last met in the third round of a tournament in Leeds, England when Hagen won 2 and 1.

TIGERS HAND INDIANS A SEVERE TROUNCING

DETROIT, Sept. 28.—The Tigers defeated the Cleveland Indians today 17 to 3 and moved a notch nearer second place. After the Detroit team had scored seven runs in the first inning, Manager Speaker started giving his recruits an opportunity to display their ability. As a result five recruits flingers made their appearance in the lineup. Twenty-eight players participated in the game 18 for Cleveland and 10 for Detroit. The score: Cleveland 011-000 010-3 5 4

FIRST ACCIDENT IN ILLINOIS FOOTBALL

URBANA, Ill., Sept. 28.—Illinois suffered its first serious football casualty today when it was learned that Vivian Green, who was injured in drill on fundamentals several days ago, will be out of the game for sometime, at least until Illinois opens its conference session at Iowa, October 20. Green's injury, a dislocation, was not considered serious when he was hurt, but it developed today that he will not be off crutches for a week or so.

Coach Bob Zuppke drove his squad thru the mud tonight putting his varsity linemen on the defensive against the freshmen. Line work is ragged, and with the Nebraska game a week off the squad may expect even stiffer drill from now on than it has been put thru to date.

MARKET REFLECTING TRADERS SENTIMENT

Twenty railroads averaged

High 82.23; 90.51; low 89.53
Total bond sales (par value)
$8,928,000.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Mixed price movements in today's stock market continued to reflect the shifting sentiment of professional traders.
Failure of a stock exchange house caused some unsettlement
at the start as stocks were sold under the rule, but except in a few stocks, in which the bankrupt firm was heavily interested, the reactions were relatively small.

American Woolen was subjected to a sharp attack in the late afternoon being driven down 4½ points to 73½, a new record for the year.
Persistent pressure against United States government bonds carrying most of them down from 132½ to 122½ at a point, featured today's bond market.

While the drop in tax exempt bonds of the United States government was only 1-32 of a point the bonds touched a new low for the year at 98.17. Bankers report they are not active in the liberty market altho admitting there has been some selling because of relatively higher interest rates to be obtained elsewhere.

PRESBYTERIAN MEN
MET AT DINNER

Heard Inspiring Address by Dr. George Horst Representing the General Assembly.

Presbyterian men of Jacksonville at a dinner held Friday night at Westminster church heard a very helpful address by Dr. George Horst, secretary of the men's work committee of the general assembly, and by the pastors of the three local Presbyterian churches, Dr. W. E. Spoons, Rev. W. H. Marbach and Dr. Thomas Smith.

The dinner was served under the auspices of the men's Brotherhood of Westminster church and B. F. Shaffer, president of the Brotherhood, presided and introduced the speakers. The program began with mass singing led by Dr. Smith and the invocation was by Rev. Andrew K. Rule of Illinois college faculty.

Dr. Spoons made particular reference to the good that can come thru the united effort of the men of the three Presbyterian churches of Jacksonville. He spoke of the benefits of gatherings like the one he was addressing, and emphasized the thought that the three churches in united effort can accomplish much more than the three working separately.

Mr. Marbach made particular reference to the possibility of holding the next convention of the Synodical Presbyterian association in this city next June. That convention would mean the coming of 400 or 500 Presbyterian men to the city.

In addition to the value there is in hearing the prominent speakers who always take part in the program, there is also a definite benefit from the presence of so many men earnestly interested in affairs of the church. As soon as the official boards of the three churches take action it is likely that an invitation will be extended for the convention to be held here.

Dr. Smith spoke very briefly about the need of evangelistic effort in the churches, mentioning how much can be accomplished by men in leading others into Christian living. He spoke also of the need for interesting boys and young men in the work.

Dr. Horst as secretary of the men's work committee of the general assembly, has spoken in every state in the union and is continually addressing bodies of men to point out to them their responsibility to the church and what can be done by zealous effort.

He said that there is some quality of leadership in every man and that it is the duty of the men as a whole to find out about that ability and to use it. He told about a number of churches with special lines of work followed out. He mentioned churches where the number of men in the membership exceeds the number of women and pointed out that this was brought about by the activity of the men in leading others into Christian work. It was an especially helpful address.

The dinner was served by a capable committee of which Mrs. J. T. Gunn was the chairman.

CHAUNCEY OLCOTT COMING

Conspicuous among the theatrical events of the season is the revival of Chauncey Olcott of his great success, "The Heart of Paddy Whack," appearing at the Grand Thursday night only, Oct. 4.

Having joined the Selwyn galaxy of stars the distinguished actor-singer elected to begin his new regime with the play that holds all records for popularity in the lengthy repertoire of successes he has to his credit.

"Paddy Whack" was written for Mr. Olcott by Rachel Crothers and served him well for two transcontinental tours. Miss Crothers is the talented lady who gave to the stage, "The Three of Us," and "Mary The Third." In "Paddy Whack" Miss Crothers succeeded as no other playwright had done, before or since, in so admirably blending Irish romance with those sparkling elements of dramatic value that have made Mr. Olcott the foremost portrayal of dashing stage virility coupled with lovable characterization of Irish humor the American stage has ever known.

BLUE BIRD GROUPS
ARE ORGANIZED HERE

New Organization is Auxiliary to Girls' Camp Fire — Former Yoasovi Camp Fire Girls in Charge of Work.

There has been organized in Jacksonville a Blue Bird movement, which is an auxiliary to the Girls' Camp Fire and for the children who are too young to become Camp Fire girls. This movement was begun last year under the direction of the former Yoasovi Camp Fire of which Mrs. Frank Heintz was the guardian. Mrs. Heintz is now director of the Blue Bird movement, and is very ably assisted by Rev. Geo. E. Stickney, who is very much interested in the project.

The girls of the former Yoasovi Camp Fire have charge of the different phases of the organization. Miss Helen Walton aids in the handiwork of the groups. Miss Helen Cleary takes charge of the nature study and athletic side. Miss Josephine Milligan teaches folk dancing and Miss Lois Harney has charge of the singing.

There are two groups of children under 10 and 12 years of age. These groups are known as the "White Hyacinths" and "Pansies," and are under the leadership of Misses Catherine Wilson and Ruth Leavenworth, respectively. The meetings are to be held at the Pilgrim Memorial of the Congregational church every other Saturday afternoon.

The motto of the Blue Birds is "Sing, Health, Grow" and they do sing and do everything they know to grow and to be healthy. They study nature in the open and the three sections under which the work is carried on are: Nature Study, Health and Service.

When the children are first taken into the organization they are known as "Nestlings." After they have won thirty honors, ten in each section—they become members of the "Fledgling" group and receive 30 feathers on their dresses as well. The highest title is received when they make 60 honors, and are known as "Flyers" at which time they receive a blue wing.

Stickney delivered the invocation.

At the evening service, Rev. M. L. Pontius presided and Rev. Stickney led the devotions. A service of song was led by Miss Leah Tayman, an intermediate. Mr. Walker then delivered the principal address of the day on the theme, "Loyalty to Christ." He emphasized loyalty to self, church, home, community, Christian Endeavor, etc. It was a practical and inspiring address, filled with good things for the young people.

BUILD DRIVE THRU
HOSPITAL GROUNDS

State Hospital Soon to Have Hard Road Thru Heart of Institution From Main to Diamond — Patient Escapes.

A one half mile private driveway from South Main to Diamond streets is being constructed thru the heart of the Jacksonville State hospital. The drive extends from the northeast corner of the Federal Training center building on Main street straight west thru the grounds to Diamond street. It takes the place of the old brick and cinder drive which formerly followed the same route.

The road is being built of concrete reinforced with steel. It is eighteen feet wide and eight to ten inches thick, and the material alone is costing the state $10,000. The main work on the road will probably be completed next week, but it will not be ready for use for another thirty days. The entire job is requiring about six weeks for completion. A full line of curbing on each side of the drive is being constructed, together with proper drainage facilities.

An ex-soldier stationed at the state hospital recently escaped and fled to Jonesboro, Ark. A hospital officer left last night for that place to bring back the patient at the request of his mother.

OAK LAWN LADIES' AID SOCIETY MEETS

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of Oak Lawn sanatorium was held yesterday afternoon at the Sanatorium. Mrs. A. A. The society meets the last Friday of each month and the time is spent in mending and sewing for the institution.

The society was formed last spring by the executive board of the Federated clubs of the county and is open to all women of the county. The membership list now includes about twenty-four but it is hoped that coming months will see this list substantially increased. There is a great deal of work to be done and there is an urgent need for more workers.

BANDITS ROB FILLING
STATION AND ESCAPE

Three Men Take $50 in Cash From White Rock Station—Believed to Have Got Away in Stolen Car.

Three men, who are believed to have made their escape in a stolen car, held up and robbed the White Rock filling station at the corner of South Main street and Morton avenue about 11:30 o'clock last night. The station attendant, William McCurley, was forced to lie down on the floor inside the office while the robbers took more than $50 in bills and silver from the cash drawer.

McCurley was able to give police a good description of two of the bandits. He said that the car was stopped some distance from the station. Two of the men got out and approached him. He was not suspicious as he thought they wanted to buy gasoline. When within a few feet of McCurley one of the men leveled a revolver at him and ordered him to back into the office.

When McCurley had obeyed, the man with the gun ordered him to lie down on the floor. "Lie down, you—, and don't flounce around or I'll have to tie you down. We're not going to hurt you."

The other man then entered and took the money from the cash drawer. There was about $15 in silver, twenty one-dollar bills, two fives and some checks in the lot.

McCurley told the police that the man who handled the gun was small in stature, and was dressed in overalls, dark coat and brown cap. The other man who robbed the till, wore a light suit and light hat and was a little taller than his companion. McCurley was unable to get a good view of the third man, who remained in the car. After the robbery the car was driven away, but McCurley was not sure of the direction taken. He thought the machine approached the station from the south.

About half an hour before the robbery, a 1923 Ford touring car belonging to J. M. Elliott of Beards town, was taken from North Main street. Police believe there is some connection between the two crimes and that the men who robbed the filling station made their escape in the stolen machine. The car which was stolen bore the license number, 425-032. It had been in an accident in which both front wheels were broken. The right front wheel was brand new, and the left wheel old, with pieces chipped out of the inner side of the spokes.

Police kept the phone busy for hours in an effort to apprehend the bandits and recover the car. Towns and cities within a radius of 50 miles were notified and descriptions of the robbers were broadcasted.

WORK OF AUDITOR'S
OFFICE IS REVIEWED

Informing Address Made by Carl H. Weber at Rotary Club Luncheon.

There are 167 employees in the state auditor's office of Illinois, Carl H. Weber, bank examiner associated with the office, told Rotarians Friday noon at their luncheon, held at the Pacific hotel. Mr. Weber gave many facts and figures which for most of the audience shed a new light upon the importance of the auditor's office, giving information as to the vast scope of the work done.

Mr. Weber said that because of new duties given to the office that the importance and the work had very largely increased since State Auditor Andrew Russell took charge of the office.

Mr. Weber was introduced by R. W. Woolston, vice president of the club, who presided in the absence of Dr. A. H. Dollear, president, who has been ill for several weeks past, but is now well along the road to recovery.

Mr. Weber said that before taking a position in the auditor's office that he had a feeling that there would be too much leisure in a state job to suit him, but that he had found out that conditions were quite different in the auditor's office, where it is a well established custom to work overtime. All moneys that are received by the State of Illinois in any way pass thru the auditor's office and it is also true that all disbursements come thru the auditor's office.

This applies to the $16,000,000 school distributive fund, the millions in the Illinois Central fund, and to other special funds.

Increase in Business

The increase in business is indicated by the fact that in one of the earlier years of Mr. Russell's term 230,000 warrants were issued for amounts aggregating $68,000,000, and in the year recently closed 500,000 warrants were issued for amounts totaling $150,000,000.

The auditor has the duty of auditing all state departments and checks up the inventories showing the many classes of state property which were found in the 181 departments. So the auditor's office stands between the tax payer and the state expenditures.

Reference was made to the importance of the building and loan department, which is also in the state auditor's office. In 1916 there were 629 of these organizations and today there are 831, the value of their assets having been increased just about 100 per cent in the seven year period.

The trust department of the state is also handled in the auditor's office and the affairs of all trust companies of the state must be scrutinized by the auditor's office. It is to the credit of the men who are responsible for the management of the trust companies as well as to the credit of the auditor's office, which supervises them, that not in many years has there been a deflation.

Emphasizing the fact that while the laws are strict and inspection careful, that the human element is a great factor in the success or failure of a bank Mr. Weber said that Jacksonville ought to feel fortunate indeed in the character of the men managing its banks, for the public need have no fear with these men in control that their banks will not be properly handled.

Savings Banks.

Then Mr. Weber went on to show in a very interesting detail the methods pursued by the auditor's office in saving the assets of banks which are found in bad condition, effecting consolidations or reorganizations which may be for the benefit of the depositors and stockholders.

In 1916 there were 799 banks under the supervision of the auditor's office and at present the number is 1412. The records were given to show that Illinois today has a proud place in the fact that its banking department is so far in advance of many other states. For more than a year past there have been but two bank failures in the state in which the depositors suffered losses. The efficiency of the department, Mr. Weber said, has been brought about quite largely by the endeavor to keep the office out of politics, choosing men for the work who are competent and not merely because they are active politically.

In emphasizing the advantage of keeping the office out of politics, Mr. Weber said that at a meeting of the Bankers' association held in St. Louis, some time ago Mr. Russell in an address advocated a plan which would organize the banking department of the state and take it entirely out of politics.

The guests of the day introduced were as follows: W. S. Hazlett, New Albany, Ind., H. P. Foster, Springfield, D. S. McKinstry, Springfield, F. D. G. Walker, Chicago, W. A. Miller, Indianapolis, C. W. Ufford, Canton, Ohio, S. W. Brundage, of the Brundage Carnival Company.
